

If God used all the excuses to not serve and minister to people as people used to not serve and minister to God...can you imagine how much more horrible the world would be and how much more inactive the churches would be?

If God said things like:

- Church people hurt me.
- I'll just watch online today.
- I find prayer meetings kind of boring.
- I'm too busy.
- The Sunday School teacher cut me off after 15 minutes when I was talking so I'm just gonna quit going.
- I was up too late.
- I thought someone else would do it.
- I didn't agree with the color of the carpet in the sanctuary.
- I've had a long day.
- I've tried church before. They let Me down.

- I didn't get to give My Word at the end of service today so I may not go back.
- I didn't really get anything out of the service.
- I'm not going back because the Pastor didn't even say "hi" to me.
- Too many hypocrites there.
- The music is too loud.
- I used to go to church but I'm just too busy to go every time they need Me there.
- It's not My style of worship.
- I had another appointment.
- I don't like the area where the church is located.
- I'm too nervous to talk about inviting people to church.
- I wanted to help but I just forgot.
- I didn't go because nobody notices Me when I'm there anyway.
- I found out the Pastor has been divorced and remarried.
- The worship is too long.
- I can go to church in the woods or on my boat. I don't have to be where there's other people around.

- I'm just gonna be honest, I didn't want to go.
- They don't sing hymns or preach from the King James Version of the Bible.
- I'd come more often but it takes over 30 min for Me to get there.
- The kids are just too loud there.
- The Pastor and I didn't see eye to eye on something.
- They let sinners come inside and are way too nice to them.
- Oh I know what they've been doing.
- I heard he's been depressed for several months now. Shouldn't he be over it by now.
- That new family keeps sitting in My seat.
- They've not called or even checked on Me in 2 weeks.
- I heard the Pastor's wife wasn't feeling well, but don't they believe in healing?

And the list could go on and on. If you've read up to this point, make sure your heart is in the right place.

Don't make excuses when it comes to eternal matters and in being involved with what God is doing in your church, community, home and evangelism.

God depends on you! His will can't get done on earth without His people being willing and ready to do the work of the Ministry. People interact with people and God works and ministers through people.

Be the light! Be there! Be involved! The thrill of being a real Christian is an amazing experience.

Come discover a real church with real results. We'd love for you to be involved with us and see how church can be done. Not perfectly but persistently for Jesus! We just love Him so much!
